

Disable "incoming call" voice announcement on the Nexus 6

Martin Paul Eve

Senior Lecturer in Literature, Technology and Publishing

Birkbeck, University of London

20 June 2015

Cite as: Martin Paul Eve, "Disable "incoming call" voice announcement on the Nexus 6", eve.gd: Martin Paul Eve, June 20, 2015, <https://doi.org/10.59348/mebpy-kcr46>.

DOI: <https://doi.org/10.59348/mebpy-kcr46>

Available at: <https://eve.gd/2015/06/20/disable-incoming-call-voice-announcement-on-the-nexus-6/>

A quick post to help anyone else, as I couldn't find this info easily on the web. In the middle of the night, I was awoken by my Nexus 6 announcing an "Incoming call from unknown number", despite the fact I had priority mode on and it shouldn't have said anything.

In any case, this seems to fix it:

1. Go to Settings, Accessibility, and click on "Talkback", even if it says Talkback is "off".
2. Click on "Settings" under Talkback (at the top right)
3. Disable "Speak caller ID"